Triennium Housing Basics

Introduction to Lodging at PYT 2022

Staying at a PYT hotel is required as part of PYT 2022 registration and attendance. All hotels in the Triennium block have AC and are within walking distance of the Indiana Convention Center! Most rooms are doubles and some also include a sofa bed. Staying at a PYT hotel allows our event to take place – everything from Lens Labs to Community Life is positively impacted by delegations being housed in our hotel block. Please do not make other housing arrangements.

Housing and event registration will both open on February 1, 2022. Rest assured we have plenty of rooms blocked off just for Triennium! Beginning in February, registrars will be able to reserve these rooms for their delegations. Completing registration & housing on time will help ensure your delegation is housed together with all your housing needs met. More details and instructions about the reservation process will be available this winter.

Registrars must reserve housing for their delegations through Visit Indy Housing. Booking through Visit Indy Housing means you will have support via phone, email, and online from people who know these hotels and can help your delegation meet their specific housing needs. It also ensures the common PYT room rate of $149 per night, allows the Triennium staff to know where specific delegations or participants are staying during the event (so important for a variety of reasons and especially in case of emergency), and makes Triennium possible. So, when you book starting in February, please only do so through Visit Indy Housing and not directly with hotels or through a different third-party system.

Triennium 2022 Hotels

Here are all of the PYT hotels in case you want to take a look! Hotel rooms will be primarily at the choice of the registrar (first come, first serve) with some limitations in accordance with room block satisfaction at the discretion of Visit Indy Housing and the Office of Presbyterian Youth and Triennium.
